

Over 12000 visitors for the sugar beet at Moyvillers !

The small town of Moyvillers, in the Oise, was, for two days, on the 26th and 27th of October, the capital of the sugar beet industry thanks to Betteravenir 2016, the European sugar beet field exhibition organized by the French Sugar beet Institute (ITB) and the Royal Belgium Institute for Sugar beet (IRBAB).

©Théo Serdet

The particular context, with the end of quotas in 2017 when the price of sugar will no longer be guaranteed to the producer, has raised an important mobilization of the entirety of the sector. Braving the fog, over 12 000 visitors came to this event. Half of them were from the Hauts-de-France, including planters from the Oise, Aisne and Somme. But all of the other sugar beet regions were also present: from Normandy to Alsace, and the Seine-et-Marne, Limagnes and Champagne!

The important foreign mobilization showed the international-scale interest, because in addition to Belgium, co-organizer of the event, fifteen foreign delegations were present: Germany, the Netherlands, England, Sweden, Ukraine, Poland, Switzerland, Spain, Italy, Turkey, Morocco, Egypt, China, Japan ...

The planters, entrepreneurs, and agricultural technicians enjoyed the 170 exhibitors who were present to talk and prepare for the future. Technical issues on harvesting and improving profitability, which were at the heart of the event, generated great interest:

- The Village of Technologies, novelty of this edition, enables farmers to find concrete answers on silos conservation and soil compaction, two issues that will be crucial in the future.
- In addition, the two sunny afternoons enabled thousands of visitors to observe and closely look at harvesting, unearthing and sheeting equipment being used.

Alexandre Quillet, President of the ITB concludes: "Betteravenir 2016 is a success. The technical innovations that were shown and that are to come will continue to help optimize production costs and maintain competitiveness! The entire industry gathered today shows that we all feel affected by post-quota issues and that a future full of opportunities is awaiting."

Were present: Alexandre QUILLET, President of the ITB, Anaïs DHAMY, Vice President of the County Council of the Oise department, Guy PATERNOSTER, President of the IRBAB, Véronique BROUCKAERT, head of the cabinet of René Collin, Belgian Walloon Minister of agriculture, Marie-Sophie LESNE, Vice President of the Regional Council of Hauts-de-France region in charge of agriculture and agri-food, Annick DECAMP, Mayor of Moyvillers, Willy BORSUS, Belgian Federal Minister of agriculture, Didier MARTIN, Prefect of the Oise department. © ITB

Betteravenir 2016, the biggest European field exhibition dedicated to sugar beet. In 2016, it welcomed Beet Europe, the bi-annual international meeting for sugar beet machinery constructors.

It was organized by :

It was supported by :

